ABOUT LUGER RESEARCH

LUGER RESEARCH

Institute for Innovation & Technology

Luger Research, headquartered in Austria, is a media, events, and research organization dedicated to supporting the lighting sector. It achieves this by disseminating information about trends, designs, and technologies pivotal for future lighting solutions.

Luger Research champions a global comprehension of future lighting solutions. It serves both the lighting industry and lighting design communities by heightening awareness, fostering communication, bolstering the lighting industry and research, and catalyzing partnerships. Such endeavors ensure that lighting technologies and trends significantly contribute to sustainability, paving the way for a brighter future.

Established in 2001 with an emphasis on research and consulting, Luger Research has evolved over the past 24 years. The LED professional publications debuted in 2006. The LED professional Symposium +Expo was unveiled in 2011, and by 2017, the Trends in Lighting Blog and Event augmented the company's portfolio. The inaugural Global Lighting Directory was released in 2019. In 2020, LpS Digital supplanted the LpS Live event, marking the inception of the world's premier digital lighting conference and exhibition.

Currently, Luger Research collaborates with numerous lighting organizations, scientific associates, and event and media partners worldwide, maintaining a robust scientific network in the lighting sector.

MAIN AREAS ARE:

General Lighting, Automotive Lighting, Horticulture Lighting, Smart Lighting, and UV/IR.

Media

The LED Professional publications stand at the forefront of the global lighting technology and design arena. This influential hub includes the LED Professional Review, LED Professional Newsletter, and LED Professional Online, all of which are integral to the industry's pulse. Complementing this robust network are various dynamic social media channels, consistently updating the international lighting sectors and research communities with cutting-edge news and insights.

With over 45,000 dedicated subscribers, LED Professional commands more than 220,000 page views each month and engages a social media following exceeding 23,000. It proudly leads the way in disseminating vital information on Solid-State Lighting technology and design.

These publications are bolstered by powerful social media channels from LED Professional on LinkedIn, Instagram, X, and Facebook. Notably, the dedicated LinkedIn channel "Trends in Lighting" serves as a highly effective and selective platform for lighting designers and architects.

The Global Lighting Directory (GLD) offers a comprehensive overview of the lighting value chain, meticulously targeting architects, lighting design professionals, and industry experts. It highlights LinkedIn profiles, showcases reference projects, and provides enhanced opportunities for elevating entries.

“Today’s marketing realities dictate that companies spend money only where they get results; Cree is no exception. This is why we can say that advertising with LED professional, in their magazine, online and in the LED professional newsletter, is money well spent.”

The sinuous S-shaped form of the Sackler Crossing appears to hover just above the surface of the lake at the Royal Botanic Gardens of Kew.

Our lighting treatment for the bridge is simple, understated, and in tune with the mercurial nature of the design. It allows the bridge to reflect in the water, and in turn, the water to reflect into the solid bronze uprights that form the balustrade of the bridge.

To achieve the smooth shimmering effect we were after, we created a custom upright that was recessed in the bridge deck at either side, between each bronze upright. These gently illuminate the inner surfaces of the uprights, as well as reflecting light onto both the deck and people crossing the span. Through our careful design, the source visibility is minimized and the fitting itself effectively disappears into its environment.
